Note: [a)] User on familysearch.org claims birth 1841 (cannot be correct) in Jimenez, Tamaulipas. Same user claims death 1878 in same place.
And that mother's maiden name is Rodriguez. Same user states that parents were Adreas Antonio de la Llata (1819-1878) and Romona Rodriguez Montemayoy (1820-1878).
There are lots of issues with this tree on fs. It is also stated his wife Maria Guadelupe Salinas died in 1878.

User on familysearch.org also has another child named Maria Ramona de la Llata Salinas 9-9-1864-1921, christened 22 Feb 1864, all in the same areas of Jimenez. This user does not have the child Maria Herlinda Juliana de la Llata Salinas.

Sibling's names taken from a family letter written to Hattie (Schulze) Doria by Guadelupe Doria (sister to Jose):

Rough translation thus far:
"The de la Llata family left Spain and moved to Mexico. They resided in Jimenez, Tamaulipas, They left with all of their possessions because it looks like they had problems with the Spanish nobility to which they belonged. Their names were Ramon, Andres, Julio, Elsa and Senoma. They had another brother that lived in Queretaro.
"In Jimenez they owned a lot of real state and became very wealthy. Several years later, my family in Linares published an edict in the newspaper saying that they were looking for descendants of the de la Llata family so they could claim the possessions that were left in that country.
"My mother did not go, and we don't know about the rest of the family. But we know they were very wealthy capitalists.

"Professor Manuel Madoria was born in Linares N.L. on March 9th, 1854. He died on December 23rd 1954 in Linares N.L. He worked as a professor for more than 64 yrs. He was a descendant of the family tree of Prince Felipo Andrea Doria of Genoa, Italy."

Possibly the siblings she speaks of are actually Ramon's siblings and not his children?
